

Meet Noah Rozenfeld.

VIC Committee

Photo Credit: Jake Scevola

The Short...

Noah started his hospitality journey in New Zealand, where industry peers opened his eyes to the world of wine.

He is now the Head Sommelier of Nomad Melbourne, and has just received his Advanced Sommelier pin by the Court of Masters Sommelier.

The Long...

Growing up in the coastal side of Haifa, Israel, Noah moved to New Zealand, and then Australia, in pursuit for a career in hospitality.

His career took him to the much-lauded Logan Brown Restaurant in Wellington, NZ; and then to Castagna in Victoria, where he worked in vineyards. His next move was as a Senior Sommelier at Ten Minutes by Tractor, where he was mentored to lead and learn the fine art of hospitality.

Noah is inspired by the people in the wine industry who has a true unconditional love for it and wants to inspire and be inspired by his peers.